

The public involvement program for this project will build upon the successful relationships developed as part of the location study. Early and continued citizen participation will be key to the ultimate success of the project.

PROJECT WEBSITE

The new project website will provide information and updates such as the most current design plans, right-of-way activities, Steering Committee information and opportunities for public involvement. An online entry form is available where the public can provide comments to the Steering Committee.

The new project website can be found at:
